Link Building & Digital PR Strategy

Project	VELoop Rewards — Organic Search Growth Project
Starting Point	Zero backlinks or third-party mentions found (File 1, Section 3)
Prepared By	SEO Intern
Date	20 September 2026 (revised)

1. Starting Point & Philosophy

File 1's audit and File 3's competitor review both confirmed the same thing: VELoop Rewards currently has zero backlinks, zero third-party mentions, and zero reviews anywhere — while Freecash, Swagbucks, and Toluna each have tens of thousands of referring domains. This strategy is built around one rule: every link should be something an editor, moderator, or reader would say yes to on its own merits — not something bought or automated.

2. Potential Opportunities

Per brief Section 37, these are the approved categories for legitimate backlink strategy, in the order the brief lists them — each with a one-line note on how it applies specifically to VELoop.

Category (per brief Section 37)	How It Applies to VELoop
Guest contributions	Pitch founder-story or product pieces to Indian startup/tech publications once trust content (File 9) is live.
Relevant blogs	Personal-finance and side-income blogs covering legitimate ways to earn online.
Startup publications	YourStory, Inc42, and comparable outlets covering new Indian consumer products (see Section 4).
Student communities	Directly targets the underserved student angle identified in File 3/4 — no core competitor owns this.
Technology communities	GPT/rewards-focused communities such as r/GetPaidTo and r/beermoney — genuine participation only (see Section 3).
Interviews	Founder interviews on personal-finance or side-income podcasts and YouTube channels (India-focused).
Founder stories	A transparent “why we built VELoop” narrative pitched to startup publications.
Product announcements	Product Hunt launch and similar genuine-discovery product directories.
Genuine resource pages	A small number of curated “best rewards apps” pages that already list Freecash, Swagbucks, etc. — not mass directory submission (see Section 3).
Relevant partnerships	Cross-promotion with non-competing apps serving an overlapping audience (e.g. budgeting or student-discount apps).
Original research	A small original survey or dataset (e.g. “how Indian users spend reward earnings”) that other publications would want to cite on its own merit.

3. Absolutely Avoid

These are explicitly out of scope for this project, regardless of how fast or cheap they appear. Google treats manipulative link schemes as link spam, and for a platform already starting from zero trust (File 1, Section 3), getting caught here would do more damage than having no links at all.

X 1	Buying spam backlinks
X 2	Link farms
X 3	Automated backlink software
X 4	PBNs
X 5	Spam comments
X 6	Mass directory submissions
X 7	Link exchanges created solely to manipulate rankings
X 8	Fake reviews

4. Digital PR Opportunities

Ten legitimate opportunities (brief Section 38 asks for at least 10), with the exact column set the brief specifies: Website/Platform, Why Relevant, Proposed Topic, Contact Method, Expected Value, Free/Paid, and Risk Level. No mass-email spam — every row requires a genuine, tailored pitch.

Website/Platform	Why Relevant	Proposed Topic	Contact Method	Expected Value	Free/Paid	Risk
YourStory	Leading Indian startup/business publication; covers new consumer products with a founder angle.	Founder story: building a rewards platform for India's student/Gen Z earners	Editorial pitch via contributor page	High-authority backlink + India-relevant audience	Free (editorial)	Low
Inc42	Major Indian startup-ecosystem publication covering fintech and consumer tech.	Product feature: VELoop's multi-feature model vs. single-mechanic competitors	Editorial pitch / press release	High-authority backlink + ecosystem credibility	Free / Paid PR option	Low
Product Hunt	Genuine product-discovery community rewarding real launches.	VELoop Rewards platform launch listing	Self-submit via standard process	Referral traffic + community-vetted backlink	Free	Low
GPT-review sites (Side Hustle Nation and similar)	Top-ranking third-party review type across every competitor in File 3.	Request a fair, independent review once trust content (File 9) is live	Editor contact form, transparent outreach	Closes the review-content gap in File 3, Section 4.1	Free (editorial)	Low
r/GetPaidTo & r/beermoney	Active communities specifically about GPT/rewards platforms.	Rules-compliant platform introduction (not a promotional post)	Genuine participation, then a compliant post	Direct, high-intent community awareness	Free	Medium
Internshala Trends & student finance blogs	Reaches the student audience File 3/4 flagged as underserved.	"Are reward platforms safe for students?" guest piece, tied to File 9's article	Editorial pitch to content team	Backlink + an audience segment competitors haven't targeted	Free (editorial)	Low
India side-income YouTube creators	Audience already searching for legitimate ways to earn online.	Founder interview or platform walkthrough; disclose sponsorship if paid	Direct outreach via business email	Backlink + high-trust audience introduction	Free / Paid	Low

Qwoted (journalist-query platform)	Journalists actively seeking sources on GPT platforms and the gig economy.	Respond as a source on gig-economy / rewards-app trend pieces	Source profile, respond to open queries	High-authority editorial backlinks, earned not pitched cold	Free (basic tier)	Low
---	--	---	---	---	-------------------	------------

Website/Platform	Why Relevant	Proposed Topic	Contact Method	Expected Value	Free/Paid	Risk
Curated “best rewards apps” resource pages	A small number of genuinely curated pages already list Freecash, Swagbucks, etc.	Request inclusion once VElLoop has enough trust content (File 9)	Direct email to page owner/editor	Topically relevant backlink in VElLoop's own category	Free	Low
Complementary app partnerships	Non-competing budgeting/student-discount apps serving an overlapping audience.	Co-branded content or a simple mutual mention between non-competing platforms	Direct outreach to partnerships contact	Backlink + shared audience exposure	Free	Low

5. Sequencing

Outreach should follow, not precede, the trust content in File 9 — pitching journalists or review sites before VElLoop has a public legitimacy page and FAQ risks a skeptical first impression exactly where it matters most.

Phase	Focus	Depends On
Month 1	Product Hunt launch, Qwoted profile setup, initial YourStory/Inc42 pitch drafting	File 9 trust articles live or near-live before pitches go out
Month 2	Student publication outreach, GPT-review site outreach, journalist query responses begin	Month 1 coverage (if secured) strengthens these pitches
Month 3	Creator/podcast interviews, partnership outreach, resource-page inclusion requests	Enough published content to make these pitches credible

6. Limitations

- No outreach has been sent yet — this is a prioritised target list and pitch framework, not a report of secured coverage.
 - Acceptance is never guaranteed; editors, moderators, and creators make independent decisions.
 - Reddit communities have strict, actively enforced self-promotion rules — each subreddit's specific rules should be read in full before any post.
 - Costs marked “Free” reflect standard editorial/organic paths; paid placements should only be considered with explicit VELoop approval (brief Section 34).
